

Daughter Of Founder Of Guadaloupe College Dies

The death of Rachel "Babe" Rainey, Friday, July 7, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Hattie B. Jackson, 4350 South Parkway, resulted in the reunion of a well-known Texas family whose history is very colorful. Interment was Monday at Mount Glenwood cemetery.

Rev. Ira Hendon, pastor of Morning Star Baptist church, and Dr. C. V. Dudley conducted services. Prayer was delivered by Rev. J. H. L. Smith, pastor of Ebenezer Baptist church. Rev. R. C. Keller of Pilgrim Baptist church, read passages of the scripture. Mrs. Frank Edwards' quartet sang. Mrs. Pauline Lee and Mrs. Anna Mae Woods of Pasadena, Calif., sang solos.

Saw White read telegrams and resolutions. Dr. Frank Hawkins read the obituary. He told of the founding of Guadaloupe college by Dr. William Ball, Mrs. Rainey's father in Sequin, Texas. Dr. L. K. Williams, pastor of Olivet Baptist church, gave inspiring remarks.

The family reunion brought together: James Ball, a brother of San Antonio, Texas; Mrs. Susie Ball Sloan, sister of New Orleans, La.; and Mrs. Eva White, sister, of Baltimore, Md. Two other brothers, Haywood and William Ball of Chicago; a mother, Mrs. W. B. Ball, who recently celebrated her eighty-third birthday; two daughters, Mrs. Muriel Ewell and Mrs. Noveletta Sydney, and a son, James Rainey, survive.
